

There were two other daughters surviving Catherine K. Strailman: (1) Catherine Strailman, who died in 1932 intestate, who never married and left no child or children and before the death of Elsie J. Strailman and Mrs. Jessie Lee Davis Grove. (2) There was another daughter who survived Catherine K. Strailman, whose name was Nannie Strailman, who married William H. Blentlinger, who predeceased her, and she died intestate not leaving any child or children before the death of Elsie J. Strailman and Jessie Lee Davis Grove. She has been dead for more than 15 years.

Catherine K. Strailman also left two sons. The first one was Frank Strailman, whose wife predeceased him, and he also died intestate after the death of Catherine K. Strailman, leaving only one child, who is Francis Wilson Strailman, who is one of the plaintiffs in this cause and who lives in Kansas City, Missouri. His wife's name is Theresa Greene Strailman. They are both adults.

Then the other son was William C. Strailman, whose wife is dead, he having died intestate and left the following children as his only heirs at law and next of kin:

A son, Carroll Strailman, whose wife's name is Lula

R. Strailman, both of whom are adults and reside in Brunswick, Maryland;

A son, Grayson Strailman, who is a widower and an adult residing in Brunswick, Maryland;

A son, Roy Strailman, who is unmarried and an adult and resides in Washington, D. C., and is one of the plaintiffs in this cause.

There is a son, Victor Strailman, whose wife's name is Linzie W. Strailman, both of whom are adults residing in Brunswick, Maryland.

I, Mary S. Strailman, am the widow of Walter D. Strailman. My husband died December 8, 1913, and William C. Strailman, the father of my husband and of those whom I have just mentioned,
